Boost your bottom line through this new training designed to enhance team productivity, collaboration and customer satisfaction!

These days, talent is harder to attract and retain, and today's globalized workforce presents new HR challenges: Immigrant workers struggle to communicate their needs, while their native Canadian co-workers face inter-cultural difficulties.

Cultural Edge, developed and delivered by the Lower Mainland's leader in cultural competency training in the workplace, ISSofBC will help you gain a competitive business advantage by boosting your team's ability to relate and perform successfully in the new global work environment.

Participants will:

- Understand the relationship between cross-cultural competency skills and the bottom line
- Learn communication skills that bridge cultural differences in the workplace
- Learn performance management skills in a culturally-diverse workplace
